

Take Back of WEEE In-Store by Retailers

- Distributors, that is Retailers, must accept back WEEE in-store free of charge when they have supplied electrical and electronic equipment to consumers on a one for one equivalent basis within 15 days from date of purchase
- Retailers must ensure household customers are informed of the return and collection systems for WEEE available to them and in writing on the till receipt or a leaflet indicate the last date on which consumers can return WEEE following purchase of EEE. They must provide an accompanying document at point of sale stating

"the price of this item includes a contribution to a producer recycling fund to ensure that waste electrical and electronic equipment is collected and recycled in a responsible manner" as per Article 16 (12) (g) of the regulations

- Retailers must also state this on a notice bearing additional details of the relevant environmental management costs fixed within 1 metre from point of sale as per Part 2 of the Fourth Schedule of the regulations
- Retailers should ensure take back facilities in-store are signposted and staff are trained to deal with take-back and WEEE queries
- Where alternative collection points have been agreed with the Local Authority, a sign indicating this must be fixed within 1 metre of each entrance to the Retailer's premises as specified in Part 1 of the Fourth Schedule of the Regulations
- When delivering EEE to private household customers, WEEE of the same type and function must be collected if requested by the customer. The Retailer must give 24 hours notice prior to delivery of this collection time.
- Prior to collection the customer should ensure the WEEE is disconnected from any electrical, gas or water supply, waste water pipe, or permanent structure. WEEE not ready for collection can be returned free of charge to the Retailers premises up to a maximum of 30 days after delivery of the EEE.
- If less than 24 hours notice of delivery is given and where it is not ready for collection the Retailer is obliged to collect the WEEE within 15 days of delivery having given a minimum of 24 hours notice of collection.

What to do with used appliances?

Retailers have several options to dispose of WEEE they have taken back from customers; however they are prohibited from:

1. transferring WEEE to another person other than a collector acting on behalf of a producer or a compliance scheme
 2. selling WEEE except for re-use or repair, where it will be re-used by members of the general public for its original use
- Retailers must register with the local Civic Amenity site through the relevant Local Authority for delivering WEEE taken back in store and agree an appropriate time for delivery of WEEE to this site where it will be collected for recycling and treatment Please see the map on the recycling information page of www.weeeireland.ie for details of CA sites in your area
 - Under certain conditions, WEEE Ireland may take back WEEE directly from Retailers who may be appointed as authorised collection points. Registration with the Local Authority also exempts the retailer from requiring certain waste storage and transport permits up to prescribed limits.

Becoming a collection point

Some Retailers may wish to become a collection facility and have WEEE collected directly from their premises, this possibility depends on a variety of factors such as volumes, space available etc. However, if you are interested in providing such a facility, please contact WEEE Ireland at info@weeeireland.ie

Please note this information leaflet is issued by WEEE Ireland as a service to Retailers of EEE and should be read as a guideline only. For full regulatory compliance detail please refer directly to the Waste Management (Waste Electrical and Electronic Regulations) 2005.
